

Temple Beth El
Jewish Community Center

High Holiday Middle Eastern Music & Sacred Dance: “Open Gates”
Sunday, September 12, 2010 at 3 p.m.

Evocative piyutim and selichot from the ancient Yemenite Diwan, Ladino songs from the Balkans and modern Israel versions of High Holiday liturgy woven together with story and interpretive sacred dances. The evening will culminate in participatory song and dance. Featuring Rachel Valfer Sills and Eliyahu Sills, Yinon Darwish, Dror Sinai and Miriam Peretz.

$15 cash at the door, please; for reservations, call 479-3444.

A piyut (plural piyutim) is a Jewish liturgical poem, usually designated to be sung, chanted or recited during religious services. Piyutim have been written since Temple times. Most follow some poetic scheme, such as an acrostic following the order of the Hebrew alphabet or spelling out the name of the author.

For more information email info@tbeaptos.org or call Temple office at 831-479-3444.

###